exercises, as follows:

1. The simplification of a complex fraction.

2. The addition of a set of fractions, involving the determination of the least common multiple of their denominators.

3. The solution of quadratic equations.

4. The solution of a pair of simultaneous quadratic equations.

5. A problem depending upon quadratic equations. Two hours will be allowed for the writing of solutions. The number of competitors from each school is restricted to two.

University hall, Room F, Wednesday, April 18, 3:30 p. m.

Rapid Computation

This contest will be a test of accuracy and rapidity in four fundamental operations—addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division of whole numbers.

In addition, six problems will be given, each requiring the addition of ten numbers of six digits. Each contestant will be given a copy of the questions. At a signal, he will turn the paper and add. When he finishes, he will hand in the paper and his time will be noted. The method for the other operations will be similar.

The numbers involved will be of six digits. In multiplication the factors will have not more than six digits. In division the dividend and the divisor will have not more than eight and four digits respectively.

The grades of the papers will be based upon rapidity and accuracy. Any paper which is untidy or not easily legible will not be considered.

In case sufficient interest is shown in the contest, a public exhibition may later be arranged for the four contestants having the best sets of papers. In that case the contestants will perform computations in view of an audience and the most expert will be declared champion.

The number of competitors from each school is restricted to two.

University hall, Room F, Thursday, April 19, 1:30 p. m.

Bookkeeping

Contests in bookkeeping will consist of exercises involving the use of the journal, cash book, purchase book, sales book, and ledger, with financial loss and gain statements. Contest will be judged on the basis of accuracy 50 per cent, neatness 30 per cent, and speed 20 per cent. Time will be limited to one hour. Contestants will furnish their own material.

University hall, assembly room, Wednesday, April 18, 1:30 p. m.

Livestock Judging

In order to test the ability of the students from high schools in Arizona, a prize is given for judging each of the following kinds of live stock: (1) dairy cattle; (2) beef cattle; (3) mutton sheep; (4) fat hogs. Four animals will constitute a class. Contestants will be given thirty minutes to place each ring and write reasons. Prizes will be awarded on the basis of 100 per cent for each class; 50 points for placing and 50 points for reasons.

Should more than one prize be won by a student he will be awarded the prize in which the highest score is made.

Agricultural building, room 110, Wednesday, April 18, 8:30 to 12:00 a. m.

Physics

The subject matter will be work and report on one of the following experiments from "A Laboratory Course in Physics" by Millman & Gale. Experiments 2, 3, 7, 8, 9, 17, 18, 19, 22, 25, 29 and 40.

Two hours will be allowed for the work and making up the report. All apparatus, pens, ink, paper, etc., and necessary implements will be supplied by the physics department.

The successful contestant will be the one who exhibits the best arrangement and manipulation of apparatus; the most complete and accurate results and the most complete, accurate and presentable report.

No more than two competitors from any school will be admitted to this contest.

West laboratory, Science hall, first floor, Thursday, April 19, 8:30 a. m.

Chemistry

In this contest, competitors will be allowed two hours in which to perform a set of laboratory experiments, dealing with a part of chemistry selected from the first semester of high school work. The assembled apparatus, such as straight glass tubing, unboiled corks, etc., together with the necessary chemicals, and a sheet of instructions will be found on each desk. Contestants will be required to set up the necessary apparatus, perform the experiments, write an accurate account of what they have done, and state the logical inferences drawn from their experiments.

Neatness, manipulative skill, exact expression in the written notes, and above all, the culture of clear, logical, correct thinking, will constitute the basis for grading.

West laboratory, Science hall, second floor, Thursday, April 19, 10:30 a. m.

Home Economics

Two contests in home economics will be given, one in cooking and one in sewing.

1. Cookery—A test in making soft and baked custards.

2. Sewing—A test in making button-holes.

Each school may send two pupils to enter both or either of these contests.

Cookery, Wednesday, April 18, 8:30 to 10:30 a. m.

Sewing, Thursday, April 19, 8:30 to 10:30 a. m.

Home Economic Department, rooms 32-7, Agricultural building.

The baseball tournament will be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The track meet on Thursday and Friday.

There are no activities on Saturday. The orators must be at the university not later than April 3rd. Send three typewritten copies to J. P. McKale, care of University of Arizona.

Entries for baseball, track and other contests must be mailed at the same time.

High School Publications

High school teachers and students interested in the formation of a State High School Society of Journalism will meet in the Agricultural building, room 110, Wednesday, April 14, 4:30 p. m.

Principal R. Thane Cook, of the Phoenix Union High school, will be temporary chairman. It is hoped that all those interested in high school publications will attend this meeting.

Meals on the Campus for Those Rooming at Hotels

The university will arrange to provide meals for all high school visitors to the campus, so that those who room at the hotels may come to the campus for the day and evening and not be compelled to return downtown for meals.

Meals at the University dining hall will be furnished gratis to all contestants and other student guests of the university from Tuesday morning through Saturday morning.

Rest Room for Young Women

Certain rooms will be designated as rest rooms, where young women visitors may find quiet and rest. The parlors of the women's dormitories will be open to all young women, also the Women's League room in University hall.

Arrangements for Contestants

The university will furnish cots to contestants during University Week, two sheets (for a three-foot bed), a pillowcase and a blanket should be brought by each entrant, girls as well as boys.

Free Admission

Admission will not be charged for any games or contests.

Miscellaneous

The astronomical observatory will be open Tuesday and Wednesday evenings after the student contests for those instructors and students who wish to use the telescope under the direction of Dr. Doughlass. The observatory is reached from the third floor of Science hall.

At least one instructor from each school is expected to make his quarters on the campus with his athletic team to assist the university in maintaining good order and in securing as much convenience for his men as possible.

The university will request that all recognize the extraordinary and congested condition that necessarily attends University Week, and all visitors are asked to co-operate cordially with the university in making the week the largest success by accepting faithfully directions necessarily given for quietness at night and for a regard for the rights and privileges of others.

Winners of contests in all the events of the week will be announced on the field directly after the track meet Friday, and prizes or medals as announced will be conferred at that time.

Drawing for order of places in the baseball tournament will occur at the meeting of the representatives of the Arizona High School Athletic association at 4 p. m. Tuesday April 17th.

In assigning accommodations for baseball teams on the campus 12 men will be assumed to constitute a team.

Special attention is called to the transfer of many of the track events to the afternoon of Thursday, April 19th.

Teams or individuals having baggage to be delivered from the station may secure drayage by inquiry at the baggage room of the station. In every case receive a check from the transfer man or take his name, and give him specific directions as to the building where the baggage is to be delivered.

Telegrams, letters and express packages for visitors may be sent to the office of the president of the university. It is important that every student and instructor visiting the university during University Week register his campus or Tucson address with the director of athletics or at the president's office, immediately after arrival.

Entry Blanks

Proper entry blanks should be filled out by the principal of the school sending contestants and mailed not later than April 3rd, to J. P. McKale, director of athletics, University of Arizona, Tucson, Arizona. If blanks are not received the same can be obtained upon application.

GEAR IS ORATOR AND ATHLETE IN COMING CONTESTS

Captain Gear of the baseball team is an orator as well as a ball player. When the time presented itself for the pupils to hold an interesting assembly to boost the team, Gear took

GIVE FRANCE BILLION TO DEMONSTRATE GRATITUDE, URGE PATRIOTIC AMERICANS

One billion dollars credit for France, without interest with unlimited time for payment, is the suggestion pouring into Washington from patriotic citizens all over the country as the first act of America's participation in the war. Many others would go even further and give the money outright to France, as a demonstration of gratitude for the help France gave the struggling colonies in the revolution. Among those favoring a big credit or gift are Myron T. Herrick, former ambassador to France, and John Skelton Williams, controller of the United States treasury.
